September 24, 2015 -

It is with great pride that 3 Bees and Me announced that their sunshades for SUVs and cars were tested to work in temperatures of up to 120 degrees. This is good news especially nowadays when the weather can be so hot and uncomfortable. It also fits perfectly in windows of various car brands.

"We are ecstatic to share to everyone that our sunshade for cars with cute dog design has been tested to work in temperatures up to 120 degrees. We believe that this is important because the weather nowadays is very erratic", says Holly James, 3 Bees and Me representative. She further added, "As parents, we do not want our children to be uncomfortable while in the car. The best way to remedy the glaring rays of the sun is to have a reliable shade that can protect them from too much heat and sun rays."

If reviews are to go by, this product has been leaving good impressions with its users. In a review by Christy Thompson, she wrote: "I have to have sun shades in every car due to driving my niece around so often. I love how easy these are to put in as well as take out. They cover a great amount of the windows so the sun is not getting on her. I really like these because they have a cute dog on them and we all have dogs that my niece love playing with so she really likes the dog on the window.?

As mentioned earlier, this sunshade can protect passengers from the sun. This is made possible by the nylon mesh screen that is a shade darker than other brands in the market today. Each shade comes with a free extra suction cup in that can be used in case the other one is lost. The cute dog design is well-received by customers as well. When not in use, it can be easily folded and kept away.

Too much heat especially during summertime is very common. Because of this, it is important to have a reliable sunshade that works well. If reviews are taken into consideration, it is not surprising anymore why 3 Bees and Me's shades for cars at Amazon leads the pack when it comes to sales.
