July 28, 2016 -
Foxbrim, a hair and skin care business located in Orlando, FL, announces that they are expanding their business on a global level. As such, they have introduced their most popular product, the 100% Pure Organic Argan Oil on Foxbrim.com, to the international market. It is now available in the United Kingdom, Germany, Spain, France, and Italy through Amazon.com. Furthermore, it will also become available internationally directly through the Foxbrim website.

Troy Johnston, Foxbrim's CEO says: "Our certified organic 100% Pure Argan Oil is incredibly popular, and for good reason. Argan oil has received a lot of attention as of late as a beauty product, providing benefits to hair, skin, face, and nails. With the popularity of our Argan Oil in the United States, and with increasing interest abroad, we are happy to announce that it is now available on the international market. At present, international orders can only be fulfilled through Amazon, but we aim to make the oil available internationally through our website as well."

The company stands by the quality of their product, which is why all Foxbrim staff have tested the product themselves on various parts of the body. As such, they have found that the product makes an excellent moisturizer, even for sensitive skin types. They also noted that it can help to improve various skin conditions, and can be used as a pre-shave oil, a lip moisturizer, or cuticle repair oil.

Argan oil has long been a popular product for hair health. As such, it works as an excellent leave-in conditioner, while at the same time helping to tame frizz. It has been found to nourish and strengthen hair from roots to tips. The oil can also help to nourish overall skin and can be applied to slightly damp bodies after a shower. Foxbrim staff have even found that it helps to diminish or even eliminate stretch marks, and repair peeling and cracked skin on palms and heels.

People in the United Kingdom are encouraged to look for the 100% Pure Organic Argan Oil on Amazon.co.uk. Further Foxbrim products are also be available on the international European Amazon markets in the UK, Italy, France, Germany and Spain.
