

Cool Breeze Launches New Essential Oil Aroma Diffuser For Aromatherapy

August 02, 2016

August 02, 2016 -

Cool Breeze is happy to announce the launch of their new product. The aroma diffuser and essential oil diffuser is a highly multifunctional item and can even be used as a mini-humidifier in dry rooms. The device, which is exclusively available on Amazon, has received many positive reviews since it has been released.

"I am seriously excited to write this review," says Coastal Girl on Amazon. "This thing is huge. Its so cool with the LED lights. You can run them with or without the mist or use the mist without the lights. The lights cycle through all the colors and you have the option to stop on any given color. Think of the possibilities when adding color to a bedroom, office or just coordinating with your mood. Its totally cool."

The diffuser has a number of specific benefits, one of which is the fact that, thanks to its large tank, it can work overnight without needing to be refilled, as it has an eight hour running time. Thus, there is no need to get up during the night just to refill it. Thanks to the ultrasonic cool mist technology, air moisture is increased, which can help with various breathing problems. Most importantly, it helps to reduce pet and tobacco odors, and, when used with the right essential oils, can relieve stress as well.

The device is whisper-quiet, which means it does not interfere with sleep or work. This is one of the reasons why it is frequently used in spas, where creating an air of calmness and relaxation is vital. Additionally, it is very elegantly designed and comes with seven color changing LED lights, which can make for a cozy nightlight, or can help to create increased relaxation. This is also something many customers have commented on.

"If I still had elementary children at home or teenage daughter for sure I would have one of these in there bedrooms because it is so cute in addition to humidifying and freshening their rooms, along with essential oil health reasons to have one," says Nancy on Amazon.

Cool Breeze is particularly proud of the safety features that the device is fitted with. It has an automatic shut off, which means that it stops working when the water level becomes too low, thereby preventing burnout.

People are encouraged to visit this Youtube video for further information on the diffuser.

###

For more information about Cool Breeze, contact the company here: Cool Breeze David Lee 6789078500 gare911@gmail.com No physical address. www.coolbreezeproduct.com

Cool Breeze

Cool Breeze specializes in making premium essential oil diffusers.

www.coolbreezeproduct.com

Website: <http://www.coolbreezeproduct.com>

Email: gare911@gmail.com

Phone: 6789078500