May 29, 2015 -

The Law Offices of Joseph S. Mitchell III, Esq., a Philadelphia personal injury attorney firm, is pleased to announce their new book, which outlines the ways people should handle a car accident and the legal matters that follow. The book is titled The Pennsylvania Car Accident Playbook and has been recently published as a resource for victims of such accidents within the Philadelphia area.

By releasing a new book on handling car accidents, Joseph S. Mitchell III, Esq. has made it clear that he hopes to help those who have been injured and are unsure about where to turn or what steps to take next. He encourages those who have undergone such an accident to read the book or contact his firm as soon as possible, as the more quickly a case of this nature is legally documented, the more likely it is for greater settlement or awards to take place. He has stated:

"I have the experience needed to help you through the often difficult process of recovering for your losses. I have fought the insurance companies and their team of trained professionals again and again to ensure that victims got the compensation they needed and deserved to get their lives back on track."

The book includes answers to personal injury case questions which potential clients of the firm may have, and is available on Amazon.com, where it currently holds a 5 star review rating. With 86 pages, it is said to hold unique information to those in the Philadelphia area, particularly due to Joe Mitchell's decades of experience as a criminal and personal injury attorney.

Mr. Mitchell graduated from Stanford University with honors before receiving his law degree from Harvard University in 1984. He has been working in the Philadelphia area as an attorney for more than 2 decades. It has been suggested that Joe Mitchell is a strong believer in educating the public on the laws surrounding personal injury and accidents for free through his website and blog. The following has been quoted regarding the firm's relationship with their clients, and their pride at being part of the Philadelphia area:

"At the Law Offices of Attorney Joe Mitchell, conveniently located across from City Hall in Philadelphia, we treat every one of our clients like family - we research and investigate, we formulate outstanding legal strategies and tactics for personal injuries that happen in Greater Philadelphia - and we keep in touch."

The site, which is printed on the book as being located at <http://www.yourharvardattorney.com>, provides the public with YouTube videos and publications on subjects such as DUI, wills and estates, personal injury, and criminal law, although the new book focuses primarily on personal injury via automobile accident. It follows subjects such as property damage, bodily injury, and insurance, and supplies answers to a number of queries that many have about the processes involved.

The book is available in e-book format for the Kindle, and works well in combination with the special report, which was published by the firm, about what automobile insurance agencies don't tell their customers. The book can be found on Amazon.com, and the report is located on the firm's website.
