

Coachville, LLC Announces Design 2017 Training Class With A Free Coach

December 05, 2016

Hopatcong, New Jersey based company, CoachVille, LLC has announced their Design 2017 Training Class. The company states that those who will attend the class will have the opportunity to work one on one with a coach to ensure that they are ready for success in the coming new year. The opportunity allows attendees a free full day experience to complete 2016 and start 2017 with a powerful beginning.

"Two truly powerful questions a coach can ask is, "What are you tolerating? And who are you becoming?" We take a step into this question in a day of completion and meaningful action," says Deanna Stull, CXO of CoachVille.

Stull says that the event, which is set for December 9, 2016, is a completely free event and that anyone can join to learn the concepts of environmental design and world power. She states that it proves to be a good way to connect with other coaches and to explore the company's environment. The one day event is set to begin a noon Eastern time and end at 6:15 p.m. Eastern time. Stull says that the first hour will be spent exploring environmental design. In addition, she says that the company will call in at the top of every hour for about 15 minutes in order to discuss next environments.

Each hour, the event plans to discuss two of the nine environments of world power. At 1:00 p.m., a discussion of physical environment will be held. This is followed at 2:00 p.m. by a discussion of Memetic environment and network environment, followed again by relationship environment and so on.

Stull states that the event will cover every possible topic imaginable including self-environment, which includes character and talent, as well as financial topics such as money, budget, and financial security. She urges all coaches to attend this no cost event and get ready to plan for 2017.

The company states that a new environment can help people to change, to become a better reflection of themselves and they urge all those interested to join them during this full day event. More information about the event and the company can be seen on their official website.
