In honor of the successful launch of Andrea Butje?s second book, ?The Heart of Aromatherapy?, it has been announced that Aromahead Institute will offer a free live webinar that discusses how someone who loves essential oils can become a certified aromatherapist. In the webinar, Butje, founder of Aromahead Institute will discuss their program aimed at helping people obtain professional certification in aromatherapy.

"I will be focusing on the 235-hour ACP (Aromatherapy Certification Program) that is offered through the Aromahead Institute. Through this program, prospective aromatherapists will learn about essential oil chemistry and the requirements that they have to fulfill to be certified," says Butje.

Butje states that on the webinar, students will learn a simple method for understanding the chemistry of essential oils, and go over all the certification requirements so that interested students will better understand how to break into this field. She explains that the webinar will answer a number of questions from those wondering how to become a certified Aromatherapist. Those interested in attending the webinar can click here to register.

"You?ll learn how you can become an expert in aromatherapy, so you can confidently make effective and safe blends for a wide range of health issues. We'll have some excellent aromatherapy prizes that we?ll be giving away on the live webinar, so be sure to reserve your spot," Butje reveals.

The institute offers studies, including their aromatherapy certification program, that teaches about the therapeutic use of essential oils through a beautiful and well-organized online learning platform. Butje says that this latest webinar is designed to offer specific information to those interested in joining the program.

Aromahead Institute was founded in 1999 and has an extensive network of alumni who are now enjoying successful careers in the healing arts profession. Andrea Butje, LMT and Certified Aromatherapist, is a recipient of the Alliance of International Aromatherapists Lifetime Achievement Award for her career contribution as educator and author. She currently serves as the director and lead instructor for the institute.

Today, Aromahead Institute offers webinars and courses designed to help those who are interested in the field of healing arts. Butje says that they strive to make learning easy for every student, and offer a number of instructions and courses designed to help students grow personally and professionally.
