Houston-based junk car buyer professionals work from four locations in the area to ensure that same day pick-ups are provided for unwanted cars. The junk cars can be running or not and cash on the spot is assured.

Houston TX: Houston Junk Car Buyer (<http://houston-junk-car-buyer.com>) is pleased to announce that they pay immediate cash and free towing for unwanted cars, trucks and other vehicles in the area. There are four locations in and around Houston, allowing the drivers to offer same-day service in most instances. The company has been serving customers in the Houston area for more than four decades. The competitive prices which are paid and the trust which has been gained by the company are manifested in the positive reputation of the firm.

According to a spokesperson for the firm, "When a customer tells us, "please junk my car?", we respond promptly and efficiently in a matter that engenders trust. Because we are located here in the area, we are able to serve our community with quick pickup as well as cash payment on the spot. We have customers in the metro area and in the surrounding locale as well. Over the past four decades, we have grown to be the largest local junk buyer and we are still locally owned and operated."

There are three steps to the process. Sellers call the customer service number and speak to a local customer service rep. The call is not answered by a call center or an operator located in another city, state or country. The second step is to provide the answers to a few questions about the vehicle. The customer is given a reliable price quotation on the vehicle based on the answers. The final step is to schedule a pickup at a time that is convenient to the customer.

When the driver arrives, he or she will have some paperwork to complete. This is mandated by the state of Texas. The driver is able to assist with the documentation. The seller then receives a salvage bill of sale. The entire process usually requires about ten minutes.
