July 28, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Rip Toned Fitness, a Las Vegas, NV company dedicated to helping people get the most out of their fitness journey, has announced they have added motivational and inspirational coffee and tea mugs to their merchandise. The company understands how hard it is to keep fitness motivation high, and they aim to provide some support with their mugs. Each is created to inspire fitness enthusiasts to push themselves every day. These mugs are currently available on both Amazon and Shopify.

"Staying motivated when on a fitness journey is incredibly difficult," says Mark Pasay from Rip Toned Fitness. "We all get to that point where the results just aren't visible as quickly as we like anymore, where the weather is horrible and we just want to hibernate, or where we get a little bored with the repetition of exercises. Our mugs are there to give people that little bit of inspiration and motivation to help them keep going."

A variety of designs of the mug have been added to the company's Shopify store. These include the "Eat Sleep Lift", "I Heart Lifting", and "Live to Lift" mugs. Each mug is available in either black or white, so people can personalize it to their needs to some degree. Each has been printed to the highest possible quality so it can be used again and again, giving people a little motivation whenever they have a drink.

Inspirational quotes have been scientifically proven to help people remain motivated. Mark Pasay adds: "Inspirational quotes remind us we can achieve our dreams. Language is very powerful, which is why we have seen motivational quotes used thousands of years ago. What we aim to do with our motivational mugs is allow people to build on that power of language and get the most out of their inner strength so they will be encourage to continue pursuing their goals during those times when they are getting discouraged."

People often look up to others and need a little bit of a reminder every once in a while so they can achieve their dreams. It is no surprise, therefore, the new Rip Toned Fitness mugs are very much in demand.
