

Washington DC Tax Attorney Now Accepts International Clients

August 07, 2017

August 07, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Business tax attorney Washington DC Christopher Klug and his firm Klug Law Office PLLC are proud to announce that they now offer services not just to domestic clients, but also to international clients. Their services are available for both individuals, businesses or corporations. Many foreign clients have already come forward to request help with their business taxes.

Klug, founder and principal of Klug Law Office PLLC, says: "Our business now focuses exclusively on international and domestic taxation, business, and estate planning matters. Our firm advises domestic and foreign clients on tax planning, compliance, and controversy issues. Our clients range from companies, individuals, and families. We are committed to our clients and to providing highly customized advice and documents, prompt attention, and timely service."

Christopher Klug is a registered Washington DC tax lawyer and residents have been able to access important services to help them properly run their own businesses, partnerships, or other institutions that have to comply with tax rules. The goal of the law firm is to make sure that clients are fully compliant with the various regulations, while at the same time ensuring that taxes are minimized legally.

Klug Law Office PLLC strives to provide the best lawyers when it comes to taxation, estate and trust administration as well as legal assistance on business formation. This is apparent in the numerous positive reviews the firm has received. One fellow attorney, for instance, Mary T., says on the company's Google+ page: "Chris has a great deal of experience in international business tax matters. I enthusiastically recommend him to business owners who need tax help or families with complex estate planning needs."

Inquiries and potential clients are encouraged to contact international tax attorney Christopher Klug and his firm offer free consultation to discuss their personal and business taxation issues.
