Las Vegas, Nevada based Rip Toned Fitness, a manufacturer of health and fitness products, has announced that their wrist wraps are now available in Italy. The company has recently stated that the wraps had become very popular in the United States on Amazon and that because of this, they have decided to release the product onto the Amazon.it marketplace.

Mark Pasay, a spokesperson for the company, says, "Our wrist wraps were a huge hit in the United States from the moment that we released them. We hope to make them a worldwide sensation, so we have now released them on the Amazon Italy marketplace, with plans to market them on other Amazon sites in the near future."

Those in Italy who are interested in learning more can find the fasce per i polsi on the Amazon.it site. The 18 inch heavy duty wrist wraps come in pairs and are currently the only weightlifting wraps that have been endorsed by World Champion Powerlifter Kevin Weiss. The wraps offer support and stability for fitness enthusiasts to assist them with weightlifting, MMA, bodybuilding, powerlifting and a number of other activities.

"These wrist wraps have been seen on major television networks such as CBS, ABC, NBC and others and have been proven to help protect the wrist joints from injury during heavy lifts," says Pasay. "And because we are adamant about safety, we have set up a YouTube video that shows you how to wear wrist wraps properly, so that you can avoid getting injured when lifting."

Pasay says that those who are interested can now order the wrist wraps on both the United States and Italy Amazon marketplaces and says that they come in pairs so there is a wrap for those who are lifting as well as their partners. Those interested in learning more about these and other products offered by Rip Toned Fitness can visit them online or find them on the Amazon marketplace, where a listing of all their products can be found as well as reviews from past customers. The company did not state when they would be releasing their wrist wraps onto other worldwide marketplaces but did state that they hope to serve weightlifters around the world with their quality products.
