

Large Flexible Tripod Receives 5 Star Reviews

January 15, 2018

Record Peak Designs Inc., a business in Rossland, BC, Canada, had recently released the Large version of their trademarked Claw Tripod. They are proud to announce that, since its release in December, it has already received 14 five star reviews. Available in both grey and red, the large version is proving to be one of the most popular items of its kind. It is currently available through <https://www.amazon.com/Bluetooth-Adjustable-Universal-Attachment-Smartphone/dp/B0749GXFZT>.

Michael McClelland from Record Peak Designs Inc. says: "We are very happy to see that people are enjoying our larger flexible tripod model. The smaller version was already very popular, but it was more limited because of its size. With this new version, people can do more than ever before and we have seen some fantastic angles on pictures that people have sent us after using the tripod. Keep them coming."

In the various reviews that the large flexible tripod has been receiving, its size seems to be the thing that people discuss in particular. With the latest iPhone and Samsung smartphones being large devices, the smaller tripods simply aren't fit for purpose anymore, as they can't hold the weight of the phone. Another feature that people are particularly pleased with is the remote control option. "The remote makes many photos possible that otherwise wouldn't be nearly as good, such as macro shots, timed shots, or hard-to-stage photos. It's also allowed me to capture my Ragdoll cats at moments they would never pose for - since they don't notice the camera without me behind it..." says an Amazon customer.

Record Peak Designs Inc. has aimed to create a tripod that is easy to use in the most challenging situations. Michael McClelland adds: "We have tested our tripod out in lots of different places. In the surf on the beach, hanging from a tree branch, gripping onto a bench. You name it, we've tried it. We love seeing that people are having as much fun with the tripod as what we had during the development stages."

The tripod is currently available exclusively on Amazon, where it currently comes with a free Bluetooth rechargeable remote control for added convenience and peace of mind.
