May 16, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Top Dog Deals is proud to announce that they have added the French Bulldog Zone collection to their website and social media pages. The company has a very active social media following, and they rely on their customers to inform them of dog breeds that are yet to be added to their site. It was in response to one such comment that they decided to develop the French bulldog zone.

A spokesperson for The Top Dog Deals says: "The French bulldog, or Frenchie, is an adorable little dog. It has all the qualities of the English bulldog, such as its calmness, tenacity, and lovable but stubborn attitude, but in a smaller body. The Frenchie is also a little bit more hyper than the English bulldog, but that only makes it even cuter. We're so excited about the product lines that we have already been able to add to the French bulldog zone."

As shown on Pinterest, the French bulldog collection currently includes pillow cases, vinyl wall stickers, bracelets, car stickers, earrings, a no pull harness, oil paintings, key chains, necklaces, and more. New products will be added regularly, as and when the company finds them. The representative adds: "We can't wait to hear back from our customers about how they have experienced our products. We have an active Instagram following and we encourage everyone to share their French bulldog pictures, and particularly when they include one of our products, through this platform."

The Top Dog Deals has a very active social media following. Their Facebook page, for instance, has already attracted in excess of 4,000 active likes. It is through social media that the company aims to further develop their product lines. The spokesperson says: "There are so many dog breeds out there that we simply cannot list them all without your help. This is why we encourage people to contact us if they have a dog breed that they would like us to focus on, and we will try to add it to our website. So far, our list of dog breeds has grown exponentially this way, and we're loving it."
