

Personal Injury Attorneys Launch New Website And Offer Free Consultations

October 11, 2018

Free case evaluations are being offered by the personal injury attorneys at Chicago's Law Offices of Parente & Norem, P.C., which has also launched a new website (www.pninjurylaw.com). The firm's lawyers are available to help injured individuals and their families evaluate litigation options and determine rights to compensation. The civil litigation firm's focus is helping people understand the legal process, file claims, and deal with related procedures and documents.

Parente & Norem's personal injury lawyers focus on injuries. The law firm has recovered hundreds of millions of dollars on the behalf of families throughout the Midwest to compensate for both financial and emotional losses in State and Federal courts.

The law firm concentrates in all areas of personal injury law and wrongful death claims. These claims may result from accidents, including auto, train, construction site, premise, and slip and fall accidents. Others involve transportation negligence, medical malpractice, nursing home negligence, and construction site negligence. Cases include claims for defective products, work-related occurrences, asbestos exposure, incidences with uninsured motorists, worker's compensation, and FELA claims.

"Parente & Norem represents not only individual cases but also groups of employees affected by workplace accidents and incidents," says Joseph Parente. "We have helped members of several unions and other organizations file their claims and receive compensation for their injuries." Parente & Norem attorneys have been instrumental in changing corporate workplace policies and encouraging businesses to avoid negligence.

With a dedication to effective legal representation, Parente & Norem personal injury attorneys focus on competence and thoroughness. They handle cases of all sizes. Unlike many other law firms, Parente & Norem does not refer clients elsewhere. Their lawyers handle each case from initial discussions to trials and any necessary appeals.

According to Christopher Norem, "Personal injury and wrongful death do more than just cause physical harm. Victims and their families are often financially devastated as a result of a personal injury or wrongful death. Substantial medical bills may need to be paid on behalf of the victim. If the victim of the personal injury was a financial contributor to the household, the family may be in danger of losing their home or insurance benefits."

Personal attention to clients' needs is a priority, and the firm's staff members communicate with clients on a regular basis. Clients of Parente & Norem are supported beyond the paperwork and document filing. As Norem says, "I am constantly working to maintain a relationship of dedicated professional service with injured and bereaved individuals who truly become my 'clients for life.'" Norem himself has recovered more than 100 million dollars for clients in personal injury and wrongful death claims.

The backgrounds of Parente & Norem attorneys include national litigation experience, education and certification from numerous universities, and specialties in various fields. Among the firm's lawyers are members of several legal associations, councils, and societies. Many of the staff members have published papers and articles and received legal honors. Awards include Superlawyer, Leading Lawyer, Top Trial Lawyers, Top Attorney for Illinois, the Nation's Top One Percent of practicing attorneys, and The Society of Trial Lawyers.

The attorneys' undergraduate degrees and past employment in legal and other fields lend experience helpful in personal injury cases. Parente & Norem also maximizes its efforts by calling on experts in the fields of medicine, economics, vocational rehabilitation, and safety. Demonstrative exhibits used in trial include drawings, models, computer technology, and videos.

Additionally, Parente & Norem attorneys do not hesitate to face testifying experts in the courtroom. Christopher Norem, who has undergraduate degrees in biology and chemistry, says, "I am not afraid to rigorously cross-examine medical experts to prove the seriousness as well as the cause of a client's injuries in any personal injury lawsuit." Mr. Norem's work has led to a major railroad changing their communication policies for North America.

Parente & Norem personal injury attorneys have extensive experience, knowledge, and expertise in the litigation process and a history of satisfactory personal injury and wrongful death case results. Lawyers are available to discuss claims, evaluate options, and determine rights to compensation.

A former client, Yolanda, posted this review of Parente & Norem: "The staff at Parente & Norem made me feel at ease, something worth so much when you have no clue what legal steps to take. I was at awe with the support that was given to me."

People considering seeking compensation for personal injury may apply for consultations on the Parente & Norem website, pninjurylaw.com, or contact them by phone. Examples and reports of successful Parente & Norem case results can also be seen on the website. The company can also be found on Facebook.

Parente & Norem's offices are located in downtown Chicago and Joliet, Illinois. To locate the office, see the Law Offices of Parente & Norem, P.C. directions.
