

Swansea Timber Company Announces Role In Project For Local Hospital

November 05, 2018

DG Heath in Swansea, South Wales, recently announced that they were the company chosen to provide the decking and balustrade for the recent Morrision Hopsital Neurology Department Project, Tom's Cabin. The project was a collaboration between Family Housing and ASW Property Services Limited.

Dean Health, owner and operated of the Swansea timber company says, "We were proud to be of assistance in this project. Our company regularly supports many local charities and we do what we can for others."

Tom's Cabin required major renovations before it could be used. The service departments, along with DG Heath and other building companies, worked to improve the rehabilitation and learning experience of those who have been affected by brain injuries. Heath states that it is a worthy cause, indeed.

"Our goal in life should always be to give back," Heath says. "We were contacted by the producers of DIY SOS, who asked that we donate materials to assist in the building of the Roots foundation building recently, as well, and again, we were pleased to help."

The company donated timber to the second project, which involved building a new structure in Penllergaer Swansea. The project involved a number of tradesmen and other volunteers and Heath says that it was an honor to have been a part of this redevelopment project. He recently held a press conference where he expressed his deepest thanks to the BBC show DIY SOS for allowing his company to take part in this project. The project took only 11 days to finish.

DG Heath is a family owned and operated business that specializes in providing quality timber supplies and related materials to customers throughout Swansea and the surrounding locations. The company was established more than 30 years ago in Pontarddulais and has earned a reputation for being trustworthy and supplying only the highest quality of timber and similar products.

DG Heath stocks and supplies a wide range of products, such as decking materials, flooring, fencing, garden buildings, doors, sheet materials and general timber. The company states that their showroom displays a number of products that customers may need for their timber projects such as door furniture, underfloor heating, stairs, shower wall paneling, and more. Heath says that customers can visit them at any time during their operating hours and take a tour of the showcase to see all of the products that the company provides.

DG Heath has an outside display that gives customers the opportunity to view a wide selection of finished installations, as well. These displays include finished decking, fencing and other projects. Heath says that the staff at DG Heath are always friendly, approachable, and ready to assist customers wherever they may need it. The company also has cutting facilities so that customers can take away the precise measurement of sheet materials and other timber that they need. Heath says that his staff will help customers to determine precisely what they need and can recommend installers for needed projects, as well.

DG Heath provides weekly deliveries of new products and says that customers can have their building materials delivered directly to the building site or pick them up at the company. Heath says that their entire staff are dedicated to ensuring that every customer is completely satisfied with their material purchase. He says that the staff is there to assist customers during their buying process and even after they have taken their orders, to ensure that everything is perfect for their building project.

Heath says that the company is proud to have been a part of these two recent charitable contributions and states that they look forward to doing more work like this in the future. He says that they are honored to have been contacted by the organizations that requested them to deliver materials to those projects and states that they feel that this is due to the high quality of materials that they provide.

He states that customers who would like more information on the charities that they have assisted over the years can learn more on the company's website. Customers who are in need of timber materials or who would like to see images of some of the work that the company has done can also find that information on their official website. Heath says that any customer who has questions about any of their products or who needs assistance in selecting timber or related materials for an upcoming project can contact the company directly or visit them in person to speak with a qualified staff member.

Source: <http://www.pressadvantage.com/story/22425-swanseas-timber-company-announces-role-in-project-for-local-hospital>