

Laminate Flooring Company Announces Showroom Expansion

January 07, 2019

DG Heath in Swansea, South Wales has announced an expansion. The company recently announced that they have expanded the size of their showroom in order to accommodate the full range of flooring samples that they now have on show. Customers can now view the more than 300 samples of the different types of flooring that the company has available.

Dean Heath, owner of the Swansea laminate flooring supplier says, “We are pleased to be able to announce this expansion and thrilled that our customers can now take a look at all of the samples that we have to offer.”

DG Heath is a family owned and operated company that has more than 30 years of experience in timber and various types of flooring. The company offers a number of floor coverings including laminate, vinyl, hardwood and more. They offer a wide range of luxury flooring materials as well as adhesives, levelers, and cleaning products. Heath states that they specialize in oak and hardwood but also offer various types of laminate, Lino and other choices for their customers.

“Not everyone will appreciate the same type of floor,” says Dean. “We wanted to be able to offer a showcase that will let our customers see everything that we supply. This way, you can make a better informed decision about what you want on your floors by seeing it in person before you buy.”

Heath says that their showroom is filled with laminate flooring, as well as solid oak and other floor coverings and states that the company invites all of those in Swansea and the surrounding areas to come down and visit them at their new showroom to see all of the choices that they currently have available. Dean states that they have consultants on hand to assist customers in selecting the floor covering that will work best for their home, their lifestyle and their budget.

Dean says that not all floor coverings are right for all needs. He states that home or business owners can come down to the showroom and get an idea of what is available and then speak with a consultant who can help them to determine if theirs is the most feasible choice. Wood floors are a very popular choice today in homes and businesses, as is laminate. Dean states that along with different types of floor coverings, the company also offers a variety of colors, styles and designs to meet every individual home or business need. But he says, customers will only be able to get a good idea of what they have in stock if they visit the showroom in person. He states that while they do offer images and information on their website about their various types of floor coverings, customers will get a true idea of the design and color of flooring when they see it in person.

DG Heath has been providing a variety of products and services to those in Swansea and the surrounding regions for many years. In addition to floors, they also offer rough timber for general building and other products for construction needs, including products needed to help preserve timber, fencing materials, engineered flooring materials, decking supplies and various hand and power tools. Dean says that they are proud to have served the area for decades and adds that they will continue to provide customers with the same high quality products and services that has kept them in business for more than 30 years.

Those who are interested in learning more about the new showroom or the types of floor coverings that DG Heath has on hand can visit them online to get a better idea of their current products. Their website also offers information about the numbers of other products and services that they provide such as ironmongery products, sundry items and timber supplies, as well as guides for the 'do-it-yourselfer' and reviews from some of their past customers.
