

Roof.net Wins Best Of The Best Television Award For The 3rd Year In A Row

January 14, 2019

A Fairfax, Virginia based roofing contractor, Roof.net has been named as the recipient of the “Best of the Best Television” award for the third year in a row. The company recently announced their win for 2018 and states that they are striving to achieve the same in 2019, which would make it their fourth year in a row of customer success.

Ken Briesemeister, a representative for the roofing company says, “We are beyond thrilled to have received this award again. We always do our best to provide our customers with winning services from professional technicians and we will continue to do so for many years to come.”

More on the award can be seen on the company’s Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/roofrepairva/videos/2034940726549089/>. The Best of the Best Television award is provided by a company of reporters who look for information on local businesses to provide to consumers. The agency that provides the award states that simply searching online for information about a business is not enough. An online search may show consumers where to find the business and the list of services that they offer, but not enough about the actual services that they provide with regards to quality, the cost to the consumer and general trustworthiness of the business in question.

In order to win the prestigious award, businesses must show consistent and progressive ownership. They must be companies that value their employees, as well as their customers and have a history of success in their industry. Companies that actively seek reviews from their customers and those that give back to the community in some way are all considered for the award.

“It’s just doing what the company would normally do but ensuring that that services also take good care of customers,” says Briesemeister. “We always want to provide our customers with the most trusted services. We welcome feedback from every job that we do and strive to give our customers the best roofing services along with the best customer service in the business.”

More on the company can be seen at <http://roof.net/>. Briesemeister says that Roof.net provides a full list of services to customers in and around the Fairfax area. In addition to roofing services, the company also offers guttering and siding installation and repairs.

Briesemeister says that the company has an experienced staff that can meet any roof replacement and repair needs for homeowners. He states that they offer solutions that will fit into any budget and can provide services to light commercial structures as well, including offices, schools and condominium complexes.

The company works with a number of roofing materials for repairs and installations including fiberglass asphalt shingles, laminate shingles and timberline or architectural shingles. Briesemeister states that their list of services includes roof and decking protection, water and ice shields, attic ventilation and more. The company states that before they quote customers for roofing repairs or replacements, they provide a thorough inspection of the roof to determine precisely what needs to be done. Briesemeister says that in some cases, the home or business owner may feel that they need a roofing replacement when a simple repair will fix the issue. Inspections include interior and exterior surfaces and the company makes recommendations after their inspection for the services that are needed.

Briesemeister says that the thoroughness of their inspections and because they never try to push customers in replacements or repairs that they do not need are two reasons that they have been chosen for the award and why they continue to be the preferred roofing contractors in Fairfax. He states that they are pleased to have received the award for the third year in a row and hope that they will continue to satisfy their customers with their list of quality and professional roofing services.
