

Pasadena SEO Expert Brings Social Media Consultancy To Los Angeles

February 05, 2019

Los Angeles, CA based Search Engine Optimization (SEO) services and consultancy firm, JH SEO, are proud to deliver their amazing SEO services for businesses and website owners across Pasadena and the surrounding areas. Founded and operated by SEO consultant and digital marketing expert Jimmy Huh, the agency specializes in Facebook ads, SEO, web design and other related services for local businesses.

The process of creating an online presence for a business is long and complex. SEO is a complex process that involves optimizing a website to rank well in search engines, not just with respect to resolving errors and employing best practices in web design, but also in the generation of content through a well devised strategy. Beyond a website, there are many other aspects to SEO as well, such as Social Media links, backlinks, directory listings, and so on. A business' social media presence is also crucial in determining their website's rank, not to mention the fact that most online businesses interact with their customers through social media. Social media strategies also need to be similarly constructed, and marketing done only once the strategy is in place.

Jimmy Huh is a Pasadena SEO expert with a marketing degree from the University of Michigan, and over six years of experience in Search Engine Marketing (SEM). He has elevated the ranking of many websites on the largest search engines, and created hundreds of thousands of leads via Pay Per Click (PPC) ad campaigns, turning them into successful and profitable digital businesses.

“My workflow and strategies are comprehensive, and I build out plans for SEO, PPC, and Website Design considering each element and how one will impact the other,” said Huh. “Instead of thinking of these tools as “funnels,” I look at SEM as a system that requires the design of any website to have those items included, while also considering its Conversion Rate Optimization (CRO). My strategies are fluid and up to date with both Google and Facebook algorithms due to being in business with some unique and really talented SEM masterminds.”

Huh provides free SEO strategy sessions that can be scheduled through his website, at <https://jimmyhuh.com/>. These sessions typically include a quick audit of a business website, whereby he identifies technical problems and SEO bottlenecks. Following this, he provides basic guidelines to business owners on how to improve their online presence through various marketing strategies. These are zero-obligation sessions, which means they are offered at no charge. However, online business owners who receive a strategy session typically tend to hire Huh as a consultant for their business' online outlook.

“Jimmy has been outstanding, not just in executing our SEO strategy, but also in helping us formulate it,” reads a testimonial on Huh’s Upwork profile. “He communicates on a regular basis and can juggle multiple priorities at once.” Conscientious of how quickly the online world can evolve, Huh is dedicated to keeping in touch with his clients as much as possible to ensure that any changes or updates can be quickly addressed.

“Jimmy brought our site, that had been hacked and had no SEO work done on it, from being nonexistent in Google’s search ranking to Page 4 within a week of completion,” says another five star review. “This guy knows his stuff.” Huh’s Upwork profile is full of such five-star reviews.

JH SEO is a Digital Marketing Agency Los Angeles that provides SEO and SEM services, especially for the healthcare and medical industry. The agency also helps with Google Adwords, and handles website design and development for businesses that do not have the relevant technical know-how. The areas JH SEO operates, and has most of their clients, in include Los Angeles, New York, Long Beach, Orange County, Irvine, Pasadena, San Francisco, San Diego, and San Jose.

Interested individuals and business owners looking for advice and guidance can request a free strategy session by filling an online form on Jimmy Huh’s official website. His digital marketing agency has an online press room compiling its latest news and updates. Interested parties can also call the agency to inquire about the services offered.

Source: <http://www.pressadvantage.com/story/25000-pasadena-seo-expert-brings-social-media-consultancy-to-los-angeles>