Villa Montessori, a leading preschool in Columbus, Ohio would like to announce their next Open House and Reggio-inspired education event. "Villa Montessori excels at providing authentic Montessori and Reggio-inspired curriculum in a nurturing educational environment that begins with children starting at 6 weeks. The event, one of Villa Montessori's many events, will take place on Tuesday the 12th of March from 18:00 to 19:30 EDT. The event presents an opportunity for parents and other interested parties to tour the school, meet the teachers, and learn more about the school's unique strengths. Villa Montessori welcomes all members of their students' families to attend the event and learn more about the preschool. Further details regarding the event can be found on its established Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/events/404519753445448>.

Villa Montessori is designed for the curious, adventurous children of parents looking out for opportunities for their child to be inspired by the unexpected, the intriguing, and the innovative. The preschool offers programs for young children; from infants to children six years of age. Villa Montessori has over twelve years of experience in integrating Montessori and Reggio, two of the most dynamic and inspiring curricula in the world. The school's classrooms are designed to create experiences that will remain a major part of children who attend the school's lives long after they leave the halls of Villa Montessori.

The school is located in Polaris and welcomes families from the surrounding areas of Columbus, Worthington, Westerville, Dublin, Delaware, Lewis Center, Galena, New Albany, Hiliard, Upper Arlington, Easton, Gahanna, and Canal Winchester. It aims to make children's preschool experiences less ordinary and far more memorable.

Villa Montessori hosts a number of events to help parents get more actively involved in their children's preschool life and allow them the opportunity to learn more about the school. The preschool's last event was hosted in January, Villa Montessori Open House & Education Event. The event helped the preschool achieve its goal of supporting each and every child's curiosity with innovative learning techniques and joy. The event also gave parents an opportunity to embrace their role as parents within the context of their child's learning environment.

Parents are an important part of a child's emotional and educational development. This is why it is important to assure parents that their children are making progress in the field of education. Events like the previous one and the upcoming Open House work to allow parents an opportunity they might not have at other institutions: to enter, explore, and learn about the space that their children likely spend most of their day in. These events allow parents to learn and grow with their children, and gives them a sense of almost going to school together.

From the children's perspective, seeing their parents attend such an event shows them that their parents are actively involved and interested in their unique experiences at Villa Montessori—and interested in growing and learning alongside them.

In the same way a child benefits greatly from having a parent appear at a sporting event, Villa Montessori's Education Event and upcoming Open House events help solidify their parents' involvement in their lives. Furthermore, it strengthens the bond between parent and child while also turning the child's formative years, which are already a unique experience thanks to the facilities offered by Villa Montessori, into a positive experience that they will carry with them for years to come.
