

Revival Products Now Offers Non GMO Soy Shakes For Weight Loss And Menopause Relief

March 12, 2019

Revival Products Inc. has announced that they are offering non GMO soy shakes that can be used to help people lose weight and also relieve some of the discomforts caused by menopause. The company wants to point out that Revival Soy is not a regular soy and that it is a researched and patented soy blend. They make use of a concentration process so that there is less soy intake while getting the benefit from drinking six cups of soy milk. This is because a Revival soy shake contains the same amount of soy isoflavones found in six cups of regular soy milk.

Suzanne Tabor, president of Revival Products, says, “We are excited to have launched our non GMO soy shakes. Research shows that eating the proper amount of soy is needed to get the full health benefits. An international panel of leading experts recommends up to 160 milligrams of soy isoflavones per day for full benefits. The FDA states that 25 grams of soy protein per day, with a diet low in saturated fat and cholesterol, may reduce the risk of heart disease. Just 1 Revival Soy protein shake gives you 20 grams of delicious protein.”

The concentration process used by Revival Products Inc. is an important feature of the Revival soy shakes because it allows people to drink just one soy shake but they would be getting the same amount of soy isoflavones found in six cups of ordinary soy milk. They are able to do this because they have discovered that the highest concentration of isoflavones is located in the center of the soybean, which is the hypocotyl. With their patented natural concentration process, they are able to combine the isoflavone-rich portion with a separate protein-rich portion of the soybean to provide a product that is rich both in isoflavones and protein.

The fact that people can just drink one Revival soy shake to get the isoflavones found in six cups of regular soy milk means that this product is a good way to reduce weight. People are able to avoid the amount of fat found in the six cups of soy milk while getting the necessary protein and isoflavones. That this works is already attested to by people who have tried using the soy shakes to lose weight.

For instance, Gail Z says, “I have only been taking Revival for two months. I have lost 7 lbs. I feel good and will continue to use it. The weight loss is slow but steady so I believe this is the best way to lose it.” Meanwhile, Fariba K says, “Revival shakes have helped me crave carbs and sugar less during the day. They fill me up and keep me going all day. They taste great. I love them and I am so thankful that my nutritionist/dietitian recommended it!”

The Revival soy shakes are the results of the efforts of Suzanne Tabor’s son Aaron (Dr. Tabor) in finding a way to relieve the discomforts that Suzanne was suffering from due to menopause. Dr. Tabor, who is a graduate of Johns Hopkins School of Medicine did some research and found that Asian women who consumed up to six servings of soy foods daily have substantially lower rates of menopausal hot flashes. Trying different forms of soy from the local grocery, mother and son realized that it would be very difficult to consume enough soy to get the benefits because of the taste and texture of soy. After two years of research, they were able to develop the first naturally-concentrated Revival Soy blend that has the same amount of isoflavones in six cups of regular soy milk. This resulted in the creation of soy shakes for menopause that effectively reduced the hot flashes and other discomforts experienced in menopause.
