

Top-Rated Real Estate Company In Fort McMurray Celebrates Support Shown By Community

June 17, 2019

Fort McMurray, Alberta based company The A-Team is celebrating the support that has been consistently shown by their community across different review platforms.

The real estate specialists are among the top rated companies in the area, achieving a perfect review score of 5/5 Stars on Google's review platform. They also have a Yelp review page, where they boast a similarly high rating of 4/5 Stars. The company states that they appreciate every piece of feedback given to them by the community, and they incentivize their clients to leave their own opinion of their services. Tom Albrecht, who co-founded the company, has led the A-Team ever since it launched in 2014. He has been one of the most important catalysts to the company's success, and is often complimented by clients for his hard work and dedication. They describe him as a good advisor who is honest regarding the different options that are available at any given time. Albrecht spoke about the support that the community has shown towards him and his company, saying, "Every single review is a little part of our story as a company. We value every piece of feedback, advice, or appreciation that our clients take their time to write—as for us, their opinion is the most important. From the very first day, we have put our customers as our first and foremost priority. Now, seeing such a show of support from the community, it is clear that we have set ourselves on the right track, and we couldn't be happier. We are very proud of achieving this landmark, and we will strive to provide a service that exceeds our customer's expectations. We aim to stay faithful to our early principles and, of course, to the community."

The real estate firm invites all prospective clients to read some of their reviews before deciding whether or not to contact them, as they are confident in the kind words that the residents of Fort McMurray and its surrounding areas have written about them. On this review platform, Jennifer Sine wrote, "The A-Team is a fantastic company to hire for selling or buying a home. They are willing to go above and beyond for buyers and sellers, doing as much as they can to help out throughout the process, whether it is by providing simple advice, or pulling some strings to speed up some processes. I am especially thankful to Tom for helping us buy our first home. We bought a newly built house and had a lot of issues throughout the process with the company, but Tom was always available to help guide us in the right direction and help us out. I would definitely recommend them, especially for first-time home buyers who need a little bit more guidance and help."

The A-Team ranks among the top-rated companies in the area, and they have made a reputation for themselves for providing excellent services and helpful guidance throughout the buying and selling process. The company invites the Fort McMurray community to consider the company for their future home buying or selling prospects, urging prospective customers to visit the company's website, where they can familiarize themselves with the A-Team's real estate specialists.

The company understands that one of the most common concerns of homebuyers is their lack of knowledge in the field, which leaves them feeling vulnerable and makes the buying process a miserable proposition—often compounded by the need to get the best value for their hard-earned money. "Real estate might seem difficult at this early stage, but with one of our specialist guiding you, we guarantee that you will be knowledgeable in this matter by the end of the process," states Albrecht.
