

Best Kitchen Designers In Sydney Blue Tea Kitchens And Bathrooms Unveil Luxurious Hampton's Kitchen Design In Kensington

July 24, 2019

Sydney, Australia based Blue Tea Kitchens & Bathrooms recently unveiled their luxurious take on the Hampton's kitchen, conceived long before Hampton's kitchens were all the rage amongst homeowners.

The design focused on creating a timeless, yet coastal, appeal of Hampton's style kitchens to Sydney. The clients wanted a high quality kitchen for their open planned space and did not opt to go with the usual sleek and modern cabinetry on offer elsewhere. They also did not favour heavy and traditional, country kitchen designs. Given that their clients wanted the space to be light and airy without using standard white cabinetry, Blue Tea Kitchens' design team selected a soft grey colour to give the kitchen more depth and warmth, a layout that was further highlighted by white subway tiles and white walls. Leading up to the kitchen, the walls are lined with family photos meant to pay homage to the clients' children, helping make the space feel more family friendly. Blue Tea Kitchens & Bathrooms designed a material and colour palette meant to match the Hampton's aesthetic.

This Hampton's style kitchen is only the latest of many such projects. Another recent design by this award winning kitchen designer in Australia can be found here.

They state, “Blue Tea Kitchens & Bathrooms designs beautiful, bespoke, and affordable kitchens and bathrooms. Headquartered in Sydney, our team of skilful and experienced designers are able to take a kitchen from concept to creation.”

With an award winning team of designers and other specialists at their fingertips, Blue Tea Kitchens & Bathrooms offers a wide range of services that run between small and large kitchens. Every living space is guaranteed to be both luxurious and stunning while still being completely functional and practical. The company offers a range of designs, from contemporary and Hampton’s to industrial and country. They pride themselves on delivering high-end designs and top quality workmanship, relying on their combined years of experience in architecture and interior design to create high quality living spaces that match each client’s vision.

“Your kitchen is a working space,” the company says. “It needs to be both functional and durable as well as beautiful. We source the best quality products from around the globe. Our designers are committed to making your space the best version of itself. Our approach to design and supply is revolutionary in the industry. We believe in transparency. We believe in getting your design 100% right. We also believe you should own your plans—and that you should get the best price and quality for your kitchen.”

The company views its team of designers as a family unit, and each member is handpicked with the utmost care. Each designer brings a unique perspective to the table, wielding years of training and experience in design and architecture. They care deeply about each client’s space and strive to ensure that every project achieves the results the client wanted in precise detail. As such, the company’s designers are detail driven and greatly skilled at conceptual planning.

“We had a great experience working with Abby on our kitchen design,” says one client’s review of Blue Tea Kitchens & Bathrooms. “Abby was lovely and patient, working through so many iterations for our design, especially as the kitchen ended up being tricky to tetrise into the space between two archways in our terrace that couldn’t be removed. Abby was always on hand when I had extra questions and always took the time to think things through and reply as quickly as she could, which was wonderful given we were on a tight timeline trying to get everything finished before the impending arrival of our third baby! She also recommended some amazing suppliers, whom we worked with to help take her design through to reality—and we feel so lucky to have found Blue Tea and to have worked with everyone involved. Our new kitchen is beautiful and we are enjoying using it every single day!”
