

Loral Langemeier And Debby McKinney Announce Live Entrepreneur Coaching Advice and Training

July 27, 2015

Loral Langemeier and Debby McKinney announce a live entrepreneur coaching session that offers training and advice for would be millionaires. The event is set for August 14, 2015 in Pensacola, Florida. Debby McKinney is a best-selling author, along with Langemeier and Kevin Harrington, and is CEO of Be Real Media, Inc.

"Debby and I are very excited for everyone to join us at the event," states Langemeier. "What we will teach people are the exact same strategies that have already helped thousands of people around the world reach millionaire status. These are tried and true strategies that really work."

Word of the event has reached every corner of the nation and seats are filling up quickly. Event leaders urge anyone interested in attending to register now before all seats are gone. This is a one-time event and no word has been heard about when or if the speakers will be hosting another live event anytime in the near future.

Keynote topics include Langemeier's millionaire makeover system, as well as the top five mistakes that most people make which keep them from becoming independently wealthy. The speakers will explain why some consumers seem to reach financial freedom easier than others, as well as how to create true financial security.

"This is about helping people, real folks who can implement the strategies that I give them to escape their deadly financial trap and quit their jobs in 120 days or less," says Langemeier.

The authors offer a 7 Step Millionaire Plan that event attendees can begin implementing immediately to start earning more cash daily. In addition to the keynote speeches, those attending the event will receive a hardcover edition of "Get in the Game, Get Off the Sideline and Start Improving Your Health, Wealth, & Lifestyle" written by Loral, Debby, and Kevin Harrington.
