July 30, 2015

The phone mount produced by California based company, Blue-Garuda, has recently made it to the top 50 magnetic car phone holders on Amazon. Fending off the competition in a crowded market, the phone holder has managed to achieve this rank within just a few months of its launch. Spokesperson for Blue-Garuda, Dominic James, explained, "Our phone holder has flourished, not only due to the innovative design and quality, but also due to our ceaseless efforts to provide the best customer service that adequately complements our product." This assertion is evident from the company's flawless 5-star seller feedback ratings on their Amazon store provided by 90 of their customers.

The Magnetic Car Phone Holder is a relatively new design, consisting of a magnetic base that hinges to a vehicle's air vent and a small metal strip attached to the phone or its case. "It is a car phone holder with a difference," explains Dominic. "The base incorporates a super magnet enclosed in a high quality rubber material. This creates a dual feature as a stable grip for devices in addition to minimizing vibrations that can occur from driving." The phone is secured in place with a rubber grip, "Unlike conventional phone holders that use a sticky residue to fix them in place," Dominic elaborated, "the Blue-Garuda car phone holder clips on to a vehicle's air vent leaving dashboards and windshields free of suction marks and clutter."

Touting customer service as their strong point, Blue-Garuda has created a screening system by which they scan reviews and feedback for unsatisfied customers. Depending on the problem, their team can then attempt to resolve any issues. "Customer satisfaction remains our number one priority," states Dominic, "and we will always look for ways to improve it further."

The company is currently offering a special offer on the car phone holder on their Amazon store with 53% off the listed price plus a free bonus. This is also supplemented by their 30 day money back guarantee as well as free shipping via Amazon Prime.
