

Roof.Net Receives Another Glowing Review

September 03, 2019

Roof.Net, a business based in Fairfax, Virginia, has announced with pride that they have recently received another glowing review. The latest customer review came from Stewart Kaplan, and they want to point out that this indicates that they are indeed the best-rated roofing specialist in Virginia. They stand out from the crowd because of a number of reasons. These include outstanding customer service, the fact that they give each customer their 100 percent effort, and the provision of excellent services and high quality roofing materials. In the five star review, Stewart Kaplan said, "Everything was outstanding. [...] I chose Ken's company for many reasons. His estimate and one other were the lowest and about equal to each other. However, I believe the shingles and other things were superior in quality. I also felt very comfortable with his company based on the number of excellent reviews plus what I learned about his business philosophy and how that matched the reviews. He was also very responsive to all of my questions and concerns. He didn't try to BS me and I thought he was honest and straightforward. This is the first time I've had a roof put on a house I own and it was a big financial decision. I feel like I made a great choice with Ken and his roofing crew and I got as much value for my money as possible. Even though everyone should get at least three estimates and then carefully look at each to make their own decision, I would definitely recommend this company to be one of your choices for getting an estimate."

Ken Briesemeister, president and owner of Roof.net, says, “We have hardly any callbacks as a result of poor workmanship. Should anything go wrong, the crew is at hand to fix the problem at no extra cost. And customers go for years needing no further repairs on their roofs because of the high-quality materials used and professional work.”

Ken adds, “Countless customers attest to the fact that they were sure they were getting the best possible service after interacting with me for the very first time. And we make sure to provide the best customer service by responding to calls and providing estimates in a timely fashion. We also show up for work on time and complete the work quickly.”

That Roof.net is the best roofing specialist in Virginia is also attested to by the A+ rating it has earned from the Better Business Bureau (BBB). Furthermore, the company has a perfect overall rating of five stars from the customer reviews on the BBB site. Those who would like to learn more about this can go to the company’s BBB profile at <https://www.bbb.org/us/va/fairfax/profile/roofing-contractors/improve-today-inc-roofnet-0241-152023996>.

For those whose homes have a damaged roof, Ken wants to point out that roof repair, up to a certain extent, can suffice. However, roof replacement may be an absolute necessity and may actually be the less costly alternative in the long run, particularly when the damage is extensive or the roof is already old and close to the end of its life. For those who are unsure if a new roof is needed or not, the professionals from Roof.net can offer the appropriate advice.

And when choosing a roof replacement contractor, Ken points out that they are the best possible partner for the homeowner or property owner because of their 45 years of experience in providing high quality roof replacement services. Proof of this is found in the highly positive reviews they have received on various reputable sites, including Yelp, Google, BBB, Top Rated Local, and CustomerLobby.

The company's professionals are known for their integrity, which means that homeowners or property owners will not have to worry about being pressured into replacing their roof unless it is absolutely required. They are also licensed, insured and accredited with the BBB and DPOR.
