Lemont, Illinois based Crane Network LLC, has shared a video that showcases three of their tower cranes for sale being used by the AKEM Group in Bursa, Turkey to carry out one of their latest projects. Crane Network possesses one of the largest selections of cranes and other industrial machinery for sale and rental, a selection that cumulatively makes up the biggest online marketplace for this kind of equipment.

Paul Paliwoda, a representative of Crane Network LLC, says, "We are very excited to share this video with our clients. It demonstrates the true capabilities of the machinery we sell and rent, erecting structures high above anything else in the Turkey skyline and fulfilling a significant enterprise for our client. It also illustrates the scope of our international network. While most of the cranes we have listed for sale are situated in the US, we are an international company that cooperates with others to shape the landscape of cities around the world."

As noted by the company, some of their machinery travels across international lines to assist in projects of all sizes and scopes, proving that Crane Network LLC is one of the best sources from which clients may acquire industrial machinery, no matter what country they are based in. They take great pride in this aspect of their services as it supports their goal of hosting a convenient and accessible platform that clients can use to acquire the machinery they need to launch any venture.

The excellent customer service the company is known for has been a staple of their operations since their founding 20 years ago. Over the course of their work, they have maintained a commitment to connecting buyers and sellers of cranes, heavy equipment, and assorted parts and attachments. They now boast a distinguished reputation as an established marketplace for industrial machinery. Notably, however, their services are not limited to facilitating the buying and selling process.

A key aspect of the services provided by Crane Network LLC is their dedication to helping their clients, whether this is achieved by guiding them on how to sell a crane through their website or assisting them in finding the most suitable construction equipment given their specific budgets and requirements. They accomplish this first mission by relying on a team of qualified individuals who guide their clients through every step of the process to list a new piece of equipment on their website. They are able to offer assistance at various points of the process, ranging from the machine's initial inspection to the pricing and payment options that should be used. The advice they offer is always tailored to each client's individual circumstances and requirements.

Paliwoda states, "Since we offer thousands of types of machines and solutions, we must also help buyers navigate these options to find the best fit for them. We can advise them on whether or not they should buy or rent a specific piece of machinery, and we can also help them choose a seller based on proximity, considering the costs of transport. These are all aspects of the field that they may overlook, or whose importance they may misrepresent. It is our foremost priority to help and guide our clients in these situations."

Crane Network LLC is pleased to share several customer reviews that attest to the quality of their services on their website, such as this testimonial from Jennifer Pratt of Pinnacle Crane, who says, "Crane Network has been an integral part of our used and rental fleet crane sales. They have provided us with exposure to crane customers that we would not have been able to reach on our own. We have formed many new customer relationships as a result of the many forms of advertising that are offered to us, such as featured listings and email blasts. Pinnacle Cranes looks forward to partnering with them for many years to come!"
