Carabin & Shaw P.C. is quick to emphasize that, "Our law firm doesn't represent insurance companies or HMOs; we represent real people with real problems." This is due to the fact that they seek to place the vast resources of the kind of firm large companies would rely on at the disposal of individuals, real people, who truly merit that much attention. With the firm's backing, victims will be represented by lawyers who have the same reach as the parties they wish to take legal action against."
