For instance, Jessica Robinson recommends the firm in her recent review, saying, "We had the pleasure of meeting Tom several years ago when he represented clients buying our previous home. We were impressed with his extensive market knowledge and decided to approach him to find our 'unicorn' home in Fort McMurray. Unfortunately, after an extensive search (seeing many, many properties), we were unable to close a deal before being moved out of town. By this time we had seen the amazing marketing strategies employed by The A-Team."

The review goes on to say, "Enter Breanna, the sellers' agent who went above and beyond in the care and attention to detail in getting our home listed and sold within 20 days! She is also an excellent plant-sitter, if you happen to leave one behind by accident. We were extremely happy with the level of service and knowledge displayed by both sides of The A-Team, having had the opportunity to work with both buyers' and sellers' agents, and are looking forward to one day returning to Fort McMurray—The A-Team will be our first call." More reviews of this nature can be found on The A-Team's Facebook page, alongside many other resources that homeowners and sellers alike will find useful. Similarly, Twila Mackenzie says, "We had a great experience working with the A-Team. Aaron did a fantastic job helping us sell our first house. We had no idea what we were doing and he was always available and took the time to answer our questions. He kept us well informed with changing market conditions which allowed us to remain competitive. Throughout the entire process, Aaron was knowledgeable, reliable and trustworthy. We highly recommend meeting with him if you are considering selling your home!"

Given that the firm strongly favors maintaining professional yet engaging relationships with their clients, their new Facebook followers will soon discover that many of the reviews left on their page have personalized responses from The A-Team. This is an example of the company's dedication to both the services they offer as well as the pedigree of customer service that they sustain throughout every facet of their work. These reviews generally state that The A-Team did everything in their power to ensure that their clients got favorable results, whether that meant successfully selling a house for an appreciable price, locating a property with unique amenities, taking on the bulk of any laborious paperwork and more.

In the same vein, their website serves as a portal through which visitors may quickly locate properties they are looking for via parameters they can freely select, such as location, property type, number of bedrooms, size and so on. Additionally, the firm ensures that a selection of 'Free Resources' are easily accessible through the main menu on the website; this tab gives visitors access to their informative blog posts, local real estate market analysis, general advice that may be of use to all buyers and sellers and even local news from the community.

As noted on the website, “It’s easy to get caught up in paralysis by analysis. It could be the right time to move. It could not. No one knows just yet. Here’s the thing, though: you don’t need to know. You don’t need to be a market expert. All you need to know is that you want to move. Lose the doubt and cut the worry. We’re here to help you move without sweating the small stuff. Or sweating at all.” In short, The A-Team places their real estate specialists at the disposal of their clients, ensuring that their home selling or buying journey remains a hassle-free experience.

Clients may reach out to Tom Albrecht of The A-Team to follow up on any further inquiries they may have. The firm’s website enables multiple means of contact as well, and clients are encouraged to join the firm on their social media platforms.
