

Leading Brand in Cupping Therapy Announces Interview with Harvest Growth Podcast

January 13, 2020

Today, Lure Essentials announced their interview with Harvest Growth Podcast. Founders of Lure Essentials Stella, and her husband, Igor, were guests of host Jon LaClare. LaClare regularly hosts successful entrepreneurs and inventors and invited Stella and Igor on the show to discuss the story of how and why they founded the Lure Essentials brand.

During the interview, LaClare asked the founders to share what their business does. Stella explained that Lure helps people “live healthy, pain-free and fulfilling lives. We developed DIY cupping systems based on the ancient wisdom of cupping therapy so that anyone regardless of age or experience can enjoy this remarkable and miraculous modality to achieve their beauty and wellness goals.” She goes on to explain that her company has pioneered the trend of cupping for self-care. In 2014, Stella and Igor both struggled with sports-related injuries. They searched for noninvasive and more natural ways to find relief from their pain, and this is when they recalled an old school remedy widely practiced in Eastern Europe where they are from. “We remembered a treatment from our childhood that incorporated an ancient technique of cupping,” says Stella during the interview. Stella shared that her mom had a silicone rubber cup that she brought back from her recent trip to Ukraine. The cup wasn’t perfect but it worked. This is when Stella immediately saw the potential to bring cupping therapy mainstream. She and Igor redesigned the cup and started their search for a manufacturer who can produce a new cup made with transparent silicone material that is flexible, user-friendly and is easy to use and clean. Stella said, “We were lucky to find the right manufacturing partner and worked with them to engineer a new and improved version of the cup. We took it a step further and created a number of different DIY cupping kits or what we refer to as cupping systems for pain relief, athletic recovery, beauty and body sculpting.” Today Lure Essential’s cupping sets can be found on the company website, at participating CVS stores, high-end spas, healthcare practices or consumers can buy Lure cupping therapy sets on Amazon.

Stella says that the company takes pride in the quality of their products. The proprietary manufacturing process, premium material and support company provides to all Lure customers is what separates them from less than subpar quality competitors. All Lure Essentials cupping sets are guaranteed to be durable and to meet the highest standards of efficacy and safety. She said during the interview that the company listens to their customers which include athletes, consumers, and trainers and that they work constantly to develop new and exciting products to help consumers solve their everyday pains.

Stella emphasized that “Education, proper application of cups and their use are critical for this category product and this is why we heavily invest in education and work with the industry’s best experts and practitioners. We provide videos and make other free resources readily available on our company website so customers can get the most out of this modality.”

Stella adds that she and Igor feel very rewarded in reading through the plethora of emails and testimonials sent to them by their customers sharing how cupping transformed their everyday lives.
