

Arizona Reputation Management Agency Expands Team To Service Clients

January 13, 2020

Phoenix, AZ based Lucid Leverage LLC, a leading SEO and reputation management agency, is excited to announce that they have expanded their writing team to help provide additional services to their clients. Their new services complement their existing cutting edge automation and massive distribution capabilities. With the addition of dedicated press release writers and onsite content writers, all their clients will benefit from having the strongest influence over Google's search algorithm.

Chris Quintela, Co-founder of Lucid Leverage, says, "We are dedicated and passionate about getting to, and keeping our clients on, the top page on Google. To help companies grow, we draw organic visitors to their website and social media accounts with compelling content that will keep them returning for more. We are excited to be offering more services to our clients to help them begin and develop better relationships with their customers."

Reputation management is a crucial part of every company's success. Unfortunately, there are times when an unscrupulous competitor or even an unhappy employee can use a bad review to tarnish a reputation. There are also times when a customer either misunderstood what they were getting or had unrealistic expectations about a product or service. Lucid Leverage is one of the best firms to call in such situations, especially since they offer a free consultation to find out how they can help with a proactive, constructive and aggressive approach to make sure customers and potential new sales see the agency's client in the best light possible. Reputation management is becoming more important to celebrities as well, and all who live in the public eye can now observe the value of Lucid Leverage's dedication to providing the highest quality services.

The firm's digital marketing team provides a full range of marketing services, including white-label and private label SEO reseller opportunities to web design firms, marketing agencies and anyone looking to grow their average revenue per customer and monthly residual income. Their service helps many agencies expand their revenue base, with no overhead expenses, through their digital branding, search domination and conversion optimization.

The firm was recently featured on the WRCB TV and USA Today news sites in an article which pointed out that one of their subsidiaries, Lucid Leverage Financial LLC, is compliant with the new federal cannabidiol (CBD) merchant processing laws and standards. In the article, Quintela, says, "We're happy to announce our compliance with the new federal CBD merchant processing laws and standards. We understand that, while medical marijuana dispensaries may know some of the legal restrictions for CBD products, it is up to the digital marketing agencies to display the CBD products and other cannabis products on the website in compliance with the federal laws and statutes, while boosting visibility on social media and organic Google search."

Their professional nature and expertise dealing with the associated legislation and regulatory compliance sets them apart from many agencies, placing them at the forefront of the industry. This is reflected in their online reviews, where they maintain top marks. For instance, Kevin C., who left them a 5-Star review on Google, says, “Lucid Leverage has catapulted our business here in LA and the Southwest. Their SEO approach is far superior than other's. Thanks for helping our business everyday! “

Another customer, Philip Butler, echoes this in his Bark review, giving the firm 5 Stars, saying, “I have been working with Chris Quintela for several months now. I couldn't be more pleased. Before I started using Chris, I was using one of the large ‘factory’ internet companies for marketing. You could never get through to talk to anybody. If you had a question, you had to make an appointment a couple of weeks in advance to get it answered. With Chris, the experience is totally different. Not only is he the most knowledgeable marketing person I have come across, he is always available to answer your questions and concerns.”

Their reliable SEO services are always in demand with companies who want to leverage their website and social media channels to gain maximum online exposure and get more customers. Their effective SEO campaigns bring targeted visitors daily and help brand their client's company as a strong leader with a positive image. The agency's proven model can help any business succeed in their location within the US, Canada and the UK, with a key focus on helping businesses grow in and around their local community.

Quintela concludes, “Our dedicated teams work alongside our clients to understand their goals and audiences, creating targeted, valuable content and messaging. Our innovations underpin our commitment to our clients' success, which is why we are currently targeting the use of professional quality videos. We're always on the lookout for the next marketing and reputation innovation so our clients will always be at the forefront.”
