

WoofPost.com Publishes Info On How To Stop Your Dog From Jumping

March 24, 2020

Laguna Niguel, CA - Jumping up on people when they approach an owner's dog is one of the most annoying habits that dog owners complain about. This problem is so troublesome that many dog owners have given up trying to stop it.

There are several training techniques owners can use to stop this unwanted behavior. When the doorbell rings or someone knocks, owners should put a leash on their dog so he cannot jump on guests. Owners may need to use a head halter or front-clip harness to ensure they can control him.

The owner should wait until the dog is calm, which may take some time, especially with excitable dogs. When all four of his paws are on the floor and he is calm, only then should the owner allow him to greet guests. If he jumps up, owners should calmly and gently lead him away from guests, wait until he is calm again, then allow him to approach once more.

To read the remainder of this article, How To Keep Your Dog From Jumping , including what to do with especially excitable dogs, go to WoofPost.com.

Also recently published are: How To Trim Your Dog's Nails - Part One, and How To Teach Your Dog To Stop Barking.

WoofPost.com is a comprehensive site for information dog owners can rely on, and includes tips on health, exercise, fun facts, breed profiles and much more. To access the complete article on dogs and jumping, plus the articles mentioned above and more, just go to <https://woofpost.com>.

WoofPost.com has a free active Facebook Group of dog parents which any dog owner is welcome to join at TheWoofBookGroup.com.

Source: <http://www.pressadvantage.com/story/35125-woofpost-com-publishes-info-on-how-to-stop-your-dog-from-jumping>