

Wyoming Company Launches Jade Eggs For Kegel Muscles Exercises

September 28, 2015

September 28, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Market Pro Co., LLC, a Cheyenne, Wyoming-based company, has announced the release of the Essence of Jade Kegel Eggs. These all natural jade eggs were used in the ancient Asian women's technique of strengthening their pelvic floor muscles, often referred to as Kegel muscles. The company offers 100 percent jade eggs, which have been shown to provide multiple benefits to women when performing Kegel exercises.

John Lilly, spokesperson for Market Pro, states, "Our Jade Eggs are smooth and seamless, pure jade with no plastic and no BPA. They are specifically designed like those of ancient times, to provide today's women with the same benefits that Asian women centuries ago enjoyed."

Weakened pelvic floor muscles can lead to female incontinence, postpartum complications from childbirth and other female issues, including lack of sexual satisfaction. These ancient exercises were created to help address those issues and improve the health for women who use them correctly.

Jade Yoni eggs (Yoni is the Sanskrit term for sacred temple) are an ancient symbol of fertility. Using these eggs to exercise pelvic floor muscles is a practice that dates back more than 2,000 years. Ancient Chinese royalty were taught this secret many centuries ago to help strengthen the Chi Muscles, more commonly referred to the pelvic floor muscles. By improving the Chi muscles, it was believed women were able to focus their Chi energy inward and that would in turn convert it to spiritual energy thus improving overall well-being and fertility.

Another ancient belief was that women who did not know how to use jade eggs were unable to harness their Chi energy. The Chinese believed that women who were able to harness their Chi could achieve immortality as a result. Kegel exercises used in conjunction with jade eggs can help to increase blood flow and circulation throughout the reproductive organs, as well as prevent Chi energy loss. Though, there is no guarantee of immortality, a "how to" video instruction is provided to women who choose Essence of Jade's eggs.

When used properly, the Kegel muscles and urogenital and pelvic diaphragms can begin to function properly. By correctly doing Kegel exercises with jade eggs, positive results can be experienced. Women only need to exercise with their Essence of Jade Kegel Eggs on a regular basis to feel younger, more energized and experience the benefits of a stronger pelvic floor.

Market Pro Co offers pure jade eggs in three sizes and corresponding weights, which have been pre-drilled and provided with an attached string for convenience. "We've researched the ancient methods of using these eggs, and feel that our customers are getting the exact product and instructions that Asian women have used for thousands of years," states Lilly.

The eggs are available on the Amazon marketplace. Those interested in learning more can click here.

###

For more information about Essence of Jade, contact the company here: Essence of Jade John Lilly 2023650151 media@essenceofjade.com Market Pro Co., LLC 1740 H Dell Range Boulevard #281 Cheyenne, WY 82009

Essence of Jade

Market Pro Co., LLC is the creator of the Essence of Jade Original Jade Kegel Eggs. Jade eggs help women strengthen their Kegel muscles by using Essence of Jade Eggs to perform Kegel muscles exercises.

Website: <http://www.EssenceOfJade.com>

Email: media@essenceofjade.com

Phone: 2023650151

