Carr Dermatology in Sugar Land, Texas, has announced a new suite of dermatology services for area clientele. The clinic will be providing patients with tattoo removal, liposuction, laser hair removal, and a suite of other services.

"From vein treatments to reducing fine lines and wrinkles, we do it all," states Pamela Carr, dermatologist and founder of the clinic. "Our goal is to assist our patients in feeling better and looking their absolute best." The clinic provides a full suite of services for patients who want to lose weight, eliminate wrinkles, remove tattoos, or handle other dermatological issues. They also help younger patients who are dealing with acne and acne scars through a range of treatment options.

Pamela Carr is board certified by the American Academy of Dermatology. She earned her Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry and biology at Auburn University, and her M.D. at the University of Alabama School of Medicine. She performed her residency in dermatology and her internship in internal medicine at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Houston. In addition, she is a member of the American Society of Dermatologic Surgery, the Women's Dermatology Society, the Texas Dermatological Medical Society, the Texas Medical Association, and the Fort Bend Medical Society.

Pamela Carr believes that her extensive education in dermatology has prepared her for the technical side of her field, while her involvement in local communities and with patients has prepared her for the human side of the industry. She points out, "I love working with people and helping them. It's a rewarding thing to be able to put a smile on someone's face, and our goal here is to always see our patients smiling."

The clinic aims to help people with skin problems, from the minor ones to the major ones. They provide anti-aging therapies as well as complete tattoo removal, and a number of other services, and to patients throughout the Houston area and from surrounding cities.
