Heber City, UT - WebMD is a useful site that shares information on healthy living and medications. Recently the website posted an article exposing the dangers of dust mites and the usefulness of mattress and pillow covers. In the article, the pillow covers were said to help prevent allergies and asthma.

According to WebMD, dust mites tend to settle in pillows and mattresses because they prefer areas that are warm and highly humid. They like to accumulate anywhere there are animals and people. The website highlighted they have an affinity for indoor regions where they can get suitable food such as mold spores or dead skin cells from pets and people. The dust mites may cause allergies and the worsening of asthma.

Understanding the need for pillow protectors, SKY Bedding, a top retailer on the mega shopping portal, Amazon.com recently added pillow protectors to their product line.

The article advised using pillow protector covers similar to the one from SKY Bedding to reduce the likelihood of accumulating dust mites. In addition, WebMD revealed a study which showed that some children with asthma subsequently required less asthma medication when they used pillow protector cases. The pillow covers that offered protection against dust mites, resulted in decreased allergic reactions and afforded a better quality of sleep.

If the pillow covers are not used, people who are susceptible to dust mites may develop a host of different symptoms. WebMD asked persons to watch out for these to identify if they need to change and wash pillows and bedsheets more frequently and invest in dust mite pillow covers. These symptoms include watery and red eyes, sneezing, itchy or runny nose, sore throat, coughing, skin rash and breathing problems.

"We understand the need to protect mattresses from dust mites, so it was only natural for us to add pillow protector covers to our product line along with our mattress protectors. We have two variations now, a smooth one and a textured one - both have been getting rave reviews," says a company representative.

The Premium SKY Bedding Pillow Protectors offer additional coverage to prevent allergy causing bacteria to live in pillows. This is done through its breathable fabric and polyurethane protective barrier. The pillow covers are hypoallergenic and contain no phthalates, vinyl, or PVCs.

The pillow protectors are currently available exclusively on Amazon. SKY Bedding proudly offers a full replacement Lifetime Warranty.
