February 23, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

SlowFoodNation, a business in San Francisco, CA, is proud to announce the launch of their new nootropic product, 'pramiracetam'. The product, which is designed to help boost concentration and alertness, is already proving to be very popular. Full details are available at <http://slowfoodnation.org/nootropics/pramiracetam/>.

Tom Wells from SlowFoodNation says: "We tested Pramiracetam and have found it to have tremendous benefits in terms of both alertness and concentration levels. As a result, we have decided to add it to our list of offerings. We really recommend people give this one a try."

The product has been described by those who have tried it as one of the best focus and memory boosters available today. Wells himself explained that, after using it, he felt that he had obtained a clearer focus and was able to get rid of his brain fog as well. He felt better able to make decisions and to focus on the things that really mattered.

SlowFoodNation is committed to giving their customers the best possible supplements and health products. Having extensively tested the new nootropic, they noticed very few side effects or drawbacks. In fact, the only drawback they were able to experience was that the supplement is quite slow acting, although this seems to depend on who uses it.

Those who have purchased Pramiracetam in the short period of time that SlowFoodNation has made it available have been very positive about their results, with many noticing improved cognitive performance in as little as an hour. This further demonstrates that it does act at different speeds on different people. "I started taking Pramiracetam as soon as it became available," says one happy customer. "I have been keeping an eye on it for some time, as it has been extensively tested in various scientific laboratories, so I knew this stuff was going to work. I wasn't disappointed. I even tested myself with a cognitive test and found my score improved within just an hour of taking it. You just can't beat that."

The scientific research findings surrounding Pramiracetam have been made available on the SlowFoodNation website. They also recommend that, for optimum results, people take it in conjunction with some form of choline, such as Alpha GPC.
